This is a letter of introduction for Ms. Millie Martin, a long-time resident of the Washington, D.C. area, and busy free-lance bassist.

Millie has performed with many of the Washington area choruses, including the Cathedral Choral Society, Master Chorale of Washington, Choral Arts Society of Washington, and the New Dominion Chorale, among others. She is frequently heard around town in the many churches who employ classical musicians on a regular basis.

Millie is a hard-working player who comes prepared for gigs, and brings not only her musical talent, but her congenial, professional manner. In a city like ours, this is a rare commodity, and a welcome factor on free-lance gigs.

Should you consider Ms. Martin for work in your area, you will find her to be a real addition to your roster of good players. I can recommend her happily.

Cordially,

Pamela A. Lassell,
